

PRESENTS:

BYSTANDER INTERVENTION: FROM ITS ROOTS TO THE ROAD AHEAD

A global conference devoted to exploring the roots of the bystander approach to gender violence prevention, and helping to set an agenda for next steps in the field.

MAY 31-JUNE 1, 2011

NORTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY
BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

In 1993 MVP introduced the bystander intervention approach to the gender violence prevention and education field. In the spirit of its continuing leadership in this field, MVP is organizing this dynamic, international conference as an opportunity for educators, activists, funders and others to explore the history, development and current state of efforts to engage bystanders in the prevention of sexual and domestic violence.

Plenaries and panels will discuss a range of issues, such as men and women working together; designing effective bystander initiatives in diverse socioeconomic and racial/ethnic environments; working with organized athletics and Greeks on college campuses; bystander pedagogy; and efforts to design comprehensive bystander initiatives that address gender violence but also bullying, gay-bashing and other significant social problems.
